

photographyburns.com

weddings | event photography | portraits | nature | commissions

The Wedding is possibly our most important rite of passage. It is a kaleidoscope of emotions and feelings, providing a veritable feast of unique and precious moments. We specialise in recognising and capturing those moments for you.

Our photos show you the glimpses, shared experiences and little things that you might not even remember doing or perhaps didn't have the time to notice, but which were intrinsic to the special nature of your day.

Our services are tailored to meet your needs, and as our repertoire covers the whole gamut of photographic styles, we are well placed to advise you of the options available and help you decide how best to photographically capture your big day. Whatever style you chose, we always work professionally and unobtrusively.

Our pre-wedding shoot is a lot of fun, helping to form a bond of trust and understanding, whilst providing you with some stunning images to use for invitations etc. It can often be combined with your pre-wedding consultation and can be held anywhere in the UK or abroad (subject to nominal travel and accommodation charges). It will normally take place on a weekday although weekends can also be accommodated. You will receive one mounted image, and are of course free to purchase as many additional online images from your session as you desire.

Our wedding day coverage usually starts with the preparations, initially the groom and then the bride. We then take shots at the ceremony (working in accordance with the celebrants wishes). After the ceremony, we take the group shots of family and friends agreed upon prior to the wedding day, these are done in a fun and relaxed way and usually take no longer than 15-20 minutes. Sometime between the ceremony and the start of the meal we will spend time with the wedding couple, creating amazing and memorable portraits showing you at your very best!

In the weeks after your wedding, we work on your pictures to create a collection of stunning images. You will be presented with 150 proof images which are yours to keep. Your proofs will also be available online, allowing your family and friends to also order various sized copies of the proof shots. The albums are tailor designed by us, and you will be sent a proof of the album layout for your approval.

Rather than befuddle you with a vast array of packages, we offer two simple starting points, one includes an album and the other one doesn't, we then leave the rest to your discretion, allowing you to create an individually tailored solution that fits perfectly with your own personal requirements.

Should there be something you would like above and beyond that, please feel free to expand our professional horizons even further. We've covered engagement parties, stag and hen nights, even the "morning after" breakfast. Let your mind run free "anything is possible"!

One popular option is having your very own Wedding Website, allowing you to bring together all the disparate strands of your wedding planning in one place, things like online engagement announcement, online wedding invitations, directions, gift lists and the running order.

Our range of additional services also includes a "mini studio" enabling your sartorially elegant guests to pose, purchase and walk away with their very own mounted photographs on the night; this in addition to the "on-line" option, ensures that they can freely browse and submit their own orders, without recourse to either bride or groom.

Thanks for considering Photography Burns and please feel free to contact us and chat about your requirements.